Adobe Connect meeting application

The Adobe Connect meeting application is required to join, present or host a meeting if you do not have Adobe Flash Player installed or to share your screen in an Adobe Connect meeting. The application can be installed in two ways:

- It can be automatically installed during a meeting via lightning download (you will be prompted to accept the download upon attempting to screen share or use functionality that requires the application). This is the most common way to install the application.

OR

- It can be installed before your meeting, using the installers below.

For organizations that do not allow their end-users to install the Adobe Connect application via lightning download, the installers below can be used.

These installers install the Adobe Connect application for Windows and Mac.

If using Firefox on Mac OS, you must right-click on the appropriate application link below and select "Save Page As" to download the application.

Meeting Applications for Adobe Connect

Adobe Connect meeting applications are backwards compatible with earlier versions of Adobe Connect. Please note that although there is currently no application for Linux, users on Linux (Ubuntu, Red Hat and OpenSUSE) can still attend, host, or present in meetings in the browser.

The screenshot shows the Adobe Connect Downloads and Updates page. The page title is "Adobe Connect Downloads and Updates" and there is a search bar for Adobe Support. The main content area is partially obscured by a Windows file dialog box. The dialog box is titled "Öffnen von ConnectSetup.exe" and asks "Sie möchten folgende Datei öffnen:". It lists the file "ConnectSetup.exe" as a "Binary File (287 KB)" from "https://download.adobe.com". Below the file information, it asks "Möchten Sie diese Datei speichern?" and provides two buttons: "Datei speichern" (highlighted in yellow) and "Abbrechen".
