

Action Based Workshops on Domestic Safety & Violence Prevention

An Abstract of the thesis by

Ackerman, Anna
Farahmand, Mubaraka
Hajizade, Ziaulhaq

The current human rights project involved the creation of surveys and interactive workshop manuals for men* and women* on the topic of violence and domestic abuse. Through researching the current work being done in the field of domestic violence, identifying marginalized groups within this realm and finalizing our target group as being refugees living in Germany, the surveys, available in English, Arabic, Dari and Turkish, stand ready to be distributed to a multitude of recipients. The workshop manuals combine data and activities drawn from a range of local and internationally based sources, and when utilized in combination with the surveys, provide a starting point for social and community leaders to launch these action-based, domestic safety workshops themselves.