

Abstract

This praxis project researched on the founding process of a Youth Advisory Council in Berlin-Mitte. It aimed at identifying empowerment processes among the youth attending Youth Advisory Council meetings in regard to self-efficacy and the child right to participation in political and administrative decisions-making processes that directly concern them.